SWAN TAFE STUDENT PICKED BY GROCERY GIANT

Swan TAFE business student Nicky Young has been snapped up by grocery giant Coles Group before the ink was dry on her certificate.

Ms Young, of Martin, walked straight out of her course into a recruitment role at Coles head office in Canning Vale.

Ms Young dazzled the interview panel with a wealth of knowledge of equal opportunity, confidentiality and occupational safety and health.

Her lecturer was thrilled by Ms Young's much deserved success.

"Nicky was a great student, she really threw herself into her studies, and completed two full qualifications three weeks ahead of the timetable," business lecturer Wendy Barker said.

Ms Young credits her lecturers for inspiring her to push herself in her studies.

"I found my lecturers' experience and knowledge invaluable, I gained much from them," Ms Young said.

"The skills and knowledge I've picked up from my course made the difference during my interview, and will give me what I need for this new opportunity," Ms Young said.
